USING SCALE

4. Turn to the Political Relief Map of the United States on pages 68-69. To use the map scale:

- Place a piece of paper along the scale so you can see the miles just above the edge of the paper.
- On the edge of the paper, mark the map distances in hundreds of miles. Mark the miles on your scale up to 600. (To get distances greater than 300 miles, slide the edge of the paper along the scale and keep marking at 100-mile intervals.)

- The edge of your paper should now look like a map scale. Use it to measure the distance between the two places in the following questions. Circle the correct distance under each question.

- a. How far is St. Louis, Missouri, from Jefferson City, Missouri?
100 miles 200 miles 300 miles 400 miles 500 miles
- b. How far is Key West from Daytona Beach, Florida?
200 miles 300 miles 400 miles 500 miles
